Congratulations on accepting the offer to join the Valmont team! Valmont extends through a dynamic team of over 11,000 employees in 22 countries, and we believe we offer unlimited opportunities in an environment committed to passion, integrity, continuous improvement and delivering results. Should you choose to share the news on your social media platforms, please feel free to use one of the attached image to include with your post. We have also provided a few examples of suggested copy for your post:

Administrative

- I am proud to announce that I have officially accepted an offer to join the Valmont team! At Valmont, we are modernizing vital infrastructure and increasing agricultural productivity by hardening the grid to be more resilient, enhancing connectivity with smart technology, increasing agricultural productivity, and developing infrastructure solutions that move the world forward into the next century.

Production

- I am so excited to be starting my career at a company focused on developing skilled tradespeople for more than 75 years. As part of the modern workforce, I will be taking the promise of technology and making it usable in the real world. All for the purpose of conserving resources and improving life.

Internship

- I am proud to announce that I have officially accepted an internship as a (insert area of focus here) on the Valmont team! At Valmont, we utilize the latest technology to modernize vital infrastructure and advance agricultural productivity around the world. I am looking forward to the opportunities and learning experiences ahead!